Boston City Council Candidates
Public Safety Questionnaire

Candidate: Kim Janey

Questionnaire written by the ACLU of Massachusetts, Boston Users' Union, Cosecha, Council on American-Islamic Relations-Massachusetts (CAIR), Digital Fourth, Families for Justice as Healing, and Student Immigrant Movement (SIM).

1. Immigration and Policing

Thousands of people are arrested each year in the City of Boston for minor offenses like driving without a license, drug possession, and disorderly conduct. Data obtained by the ACLU shows these minor arrests disproportionately impact Black and Latinx Bostonians. Each time the Boston Police arrest someone, there is the potential for ICE to be notified – putting our immigrant neighbors at substantially greater risk for detention and deportation. Charges for these minor arrests are often dropped, but there is collateral, and often irreparable, damage.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to limit the number of arrests for minor offenses in Boston? Please list your policy goals related to this issue.

JANEY: The criminalization of our children, Black and Brown people, immigrants, Muslims, poor people, and those struggling with mental health and/or substance abuse must end. I am proud of my work to push smart education policy to dismantle the school to prison pipeline. It is also important to be clear about policy, monitor the data regularly and publicly, and offer better training to law enforcement officers.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you encourage the police commissioner to exercise greater discretion and stop making arrests for minor offenses?

JANEY: Yes.

The Boston Police Department's (BPD) existing policies allow officers and intelligence analysts to collect and share information about people who are not suspected of criminal activity with the federal government. For example, the Boston Regional Intelligence Center (BRIC) is a unit of the Boston Police Department that gathers, analyzes, and shares intelligence – like the gang database – with federal law enforcement. However, the database disproportionately documents men of color, using broad identification criteria. The BRIC possesses an unknown amount of information about Boston residents, is not subject to public oversight, and has the power to put people at risk of surveillance, police stops, and deportation.<sup>1</sup> Data from the BRIC was recently used to deport at least one Boston Public School student, when a BPD incident report – which contained unsubstantiated allegations that the student was a gang member – was shared with ICE.<sup>2</sup> The BPD's information collection and sharing policy puts immigrants, people of color, protesters, and journalists at risk when that information is shared with federal agencies under the Trump administration.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to create transparency and oversight of the BRIC? What will you do to address the Boston Police Department's policy of sharing information about people not suspected of criminal activity with the federal government?

JANEY: I support changing any BPD or city policies that allow intelligence be collected and then shared with the federal government. We must protect the privacy and rights of all residents, especially our immigrant and Muslim brothers and sisters, who are often targeted.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support ending the gang database?

JANEY: Yes.

2. Surveillance of Muslims

Boston was named a pilot city for a federal "countering violent extremism" (CVE) campaign in 2014. Since then, a number of Boston institutions, including the Boston Police Department, have been involved with programs funded by CVE grants. One such program, the Youth and Police Initiative Plus, focuses on Somali youth who are deemed a potential threat due to the social and economic trauma that they experience as immigrants and refugees. CVE programs across the country have NOT made communities safer, but instead have deterred political participation and access to social services for Muslims.<sup>3</sup>

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to ensure funding is available to support social services for immigrant communities, and that this funding is not tied to law enforcement?

JANEY: I am deeply concerned by the linkage of funding to Muslim and immigrant communities with law enforcement. The chilling effect on political activism and the increased scrutiny due to ethnicity and religion are highly problematic. CVE programs haven't made communities safer, but instead are profiling a segment of our population, and giving law enforcement a way to gather intelligence under the pretense of youth programming. Finding funding sources outside of these programs will help protect our communities.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support ending BPD's involvement in any community outreach programs that credit false and stigmatizing theories about predispositions toward violence or "extremism," including Youth and Police Initiative Plus?

JANEY: Yes

Law enforcement should not investigate people unless officers have reasonable, articulable suspicion of involvement in criminal activity. The FBI does not require a criminal predicate for Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF) investigations, which often have no connection to anything ordinary people would recognize as terrorist activity; in fact, current federal policy allows the FBI to investigate anyone based on no suspicion of criminality whatsoever. The problematic relationship between local law enforcement and the Joint Terrorism Task Force has been recognized by San Francisco, CA and Portland, OR. As a result, both cities have formally cut ties with the Joint Terrorism Task Force.<sup>4/5</sup> BPD collaboration with the FBI, which has historically targeted Muslims for improper surveillance and entrapment operations, puts Muslim Bostonians at risk of federal harassment.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to protect Muslim Bostonians and activists from unwarranted federal harassment and surveillance?

JANEY: I have been a vocal supporter of the Safe Communities Act on the state and local level. Muslim Bostonians and activists have the right to feel safe in the places they call home. I would also seek to limit interactions between the Boston Police Department and federal law enforcement to an absolute minimum, as well as align policy with the ruling of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court stating officers cannot hold individuals in custody solely based on civil detainers issued by Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support efforts to end BPD collaboration with the Joint Terrorism Task Force, as the City of San Francisco has done?

JANEY: Yes.

3. Racial Profiling

According to data from the Boston Police Department, as analyzed and reported by The Boston Globe, 70 percent of the nearly 15,000 individuals that police observed, interrogated, or searched in 2016 were Black. Meanwhile, Black people make up 25 percent of the population in Boston.<sup>6</sup> Black and Brown people are also punished more harshly than white people for drug offenses. Although people of color in Boston make up less than 28 percent of people convicted of drug possession, they are roughly 55 percent of those convicted of drug distribution and 75 percent of those convicted of mandatory minimum drug offenses.<sup>7</sup> Similar disparities encouraged the City of Providence to require data collection of any police stops or searches through the Community-Police Relations Safety Act.<sup>8</sup>

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to eliminate racial bias in policing, besides previously proposed plans of hiring more officers of color?

JANEY: In addition to hiring more officers of color, we must mandate implicit bias training for all law enforcement officers and personnel to eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in street-level policing practices. It is also important to monitor the arrests for minor offences and push for more body cameras.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you work to make the Boston Police Department conduct an audit of their arrest data, to include racial disparities in arrest rates for drug offenses?

JANEY: Yes.

4. Drug Arrests

According to the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the opioid overdose death rate is 120 times higher for those recently released from incarceration compared to the rest of the adult population.<sup>9</sup> While the overdose and drug contamination crises have moved some politicians to discuss the importance of harm reduction services and a public health response, our local and statewide laws and budgets still prioritize punishment rather than a public health response to drug use. For over 50 years, the criminalization of drugs and of people who use and sell drugs has failed to curtail drug use and substance use disorder; the policy has also led to the arrest, punishment, and imprisonment of hundreds of thousands of people – a majority of whom are people of color – and limited resources for education, treatment, economic empowerment, housing, and other social services outside the criminal legal system.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what are your policy proposals to increase access to long-term treatment, limit arrests for drugs, and implement evidence-based harm reduction services, such as safe consumption spaces?

JANEY: Substance use disorder is a medical condition, and treatment, not incarceration, is the answer. I am a strong supporter efforts to eliminate mandatory minimums for drug offenses, and I support establishing early release programs for those convicted of nonviolent drug charges. We need to do more for those on the path to recovery, including connecting them with jobs, family members, housing, and social services.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support curtailing law enforcement responses to drug use, ending arrests for personal possession and small sales of all drugs, and instead implementing a public health referral response based on human rights?

JANEY: Yes.

5. Electronic and Digital Privacy

In June, the City of Somerville became the first East Coast city to ban municipal use of facial recognition technology. This technology is replete with racial and gender bias. Private companies are aggressively pushing its use on police departments across Massachusetts, endangering people's civil rights and civil liberties. There are currently no statutory protections in place to guard against abuse or misuse of this flawed and biased surveillance technology.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to ensure Bostonians' privacy rights aren't being invaded by face surveillance technology?

JANEY: I will push for there to be protections in place to guard residents against abuse and misuse of this kind of surveillance technology. Residents have the right to their privacy and the right to know how the data is being used.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you vote in favor of an ordinance to ban the municipal government from using face surveillance technology, as Somerville, San Francisco, and Oakland have done?

JANEY: Yes.

Cities and counties across the country, including Cambridge and Lawrence, Massachusetts, have enacted policies to require transparency and City Council approval of surveillance technology acquisitions by city agencies.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to ensure transparency and democratic accountability around new surveillance technology acquisitions?

JANEY: I will push for the City of Boston to follow similar actions that other cities have taken on the council. It is important that all city business is transparent to the public and I will make sure to work with all my colleagues and the public to make sure there is also a democratic process when implementing new surveillance technologies.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you vote in favor of an ordinance to require City Council approval before city agencies use or acquire surveillance technologies?

JANEY: Yes.

6. Plainclothes Policing

Several tactical units of the Boston Police Department patrol in plainclothes. They often drive unmarked vehicles while wearing street clothes. We lack crucial public information about the Youth Violence Strike Force, the Drug Control Unit, or the Anti-Crime units. This missing information includes: number of officers, budget, equipment used, complaints received, stops made, and arrest data. In New York City, plainclothes police officers are involved disproportionately in fatal shootings.<sup>10</sup>

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what will you do to ensure transparency and assess the impact of tactical units on community wellbeing?

JANEY: As is the case with military-grade weapons, the role of plain clothes officers assigned to these units in the improvement of life in our communities demands review to ensure they are not achieving more harm than good. The reassignment of these officers to uniformed patrol, alongside reform in asset forfeiture laws and stricter scrutiny of interactions with the people they serve will go a long way towards improving the public's faith and trust in law enforcement.*

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support the abolition of plainclothes policing?

JANEY: Yes.*

7. Overtime Spending

Within a budget of more than $414 million for FY2020, the Boston Police Department budget allocated over $58 million for overtime.<sup>11</sup> Police overtime spending exceeds spending on youth jobs and community centers.<sup>12</sup> Current overtime policies allow for excessive spending, including a mandate that officers testifying in court are paid for a minimum of four hours even if they're in court for less than an hour. Boston Police officers also collect pay for thousands of hours for construction details, while civilians flaggers work those sites in other cities and states.

If elected or reelected to the City Council what will you do to curb excessive overtime spending and invest in community social services?

JANEY: I will advocate to put stricter limits on police overtime spending by reforming the management, recordkeeping, and supervision of overtime to improve administrative efficiency and resource allocation. Closer cooperation with court personnel to reduce overtime necessary for court appearances alongside more flexible deployment to optimize capacity will help to curb spending in this area, and allow us to invest in youth jobs, housing, education, and drug treatment.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you work to impose stricter limitations on police overtime spending and invest cost savings in housing, education, youth jobs, and drug treatment?

JANEY: Yes.

8. Transparency and Public Accountability

The Boston Police Department has made some progress in terms of opening its data to the public. But currently, arrest data and stop-and-frisk data are not available to the public on an ongoing basis via the city's data portal. These data can be posted online without compromising the privacy of Boston residents. Stop-and-frisk and arrest data are critical to understanding the impact of policing in Boston.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what data will you use to evaluate police performance?

JANEY: I believe we should not measure police in terms of arrest rate and other "productivity" metrics, but instead in terms of the problems they solve and the extent to which they affect the quality of life in the communities they serve.*

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you work to make Boston Police arrest data and stop-and-frisk data, including race information, available to the public in real time?

JANEY: Yes.*

9. Community Oversight

While Boston has taken steps to allow for community review of civilian complaints against police officers, in the form of the Community Ombudsman Oversight Panel (CO-OP), the panel has limited power to hold officers accountable. The current CO-OP is made up of a former judge, and a former city employee. In their 2018 report, the members found that only 25 percent of cases that they reviewed were found to be not fair, not thorough, or both.<sup>13</sup>

If elected or reelected to the City Council, what steps will you take to increase accountability and community oversight over policing in our neighborhoods?

JANEY: I will work with other members on the council to hold hearings to fund and appoint more community members/activists to the panel while making sure these citizens represent multiple neighborhoods across the city. It is important to invest in community-oriented strategies like this because it will hold officers accountable for their actions and build trust between the community and the Boston Police department.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you support replacing the CO-OP with a well-funded, independent, community-based complaint review body with the power to subpoena, investigate, discipline, and fire police officers?

JANEY: Yes.

In response to input from Boston community members, the Boston Police Department is in the process of implementing a limited body-worn camera program. Unfortunately, the program includes a dangerous provision allowing officers to review body camera footage before writing incident reports. Criminal defendants, on the other hand, do not have the same right to view incident footage before giving statements to police.

Please describe the role you think body cameras should play at the Boston Police Department.

JANEY: I strongly believe that the use of body cameras should play a huge role in bringing more transparency and accountability to the Boston Police Department. This will hold officers accountable for their actions and aide in investigations of police brutality and abuses of power. All involved parties should be able to review camera footage to ensure fair investigations and trials.

If elected or reelected to the City Council, will you work to change the body-worn camera policy to prohibit officers from
